1. [ ] the previously reported meeting of East German, Soviet, and satellite officials in East Berlin on 27-28 April probably took place, but that the subject of discussion was almost certainly not a treaty of peace. At any discussion of a separate peace treaty Dr. Lothar Bolz or some other representative of the Foreign Ministry would certainly have been present, as well as Peter Florin, the liaison man between the Central Committee of the SED and the Foreign Ministry. Furthermore, Willi Stoph, who was listed as one of the participants, has primarily military functions and could not normally be expected to attend such a conference.
2. [ ] a serious effort to conclude a peace treaty is unlikely so long as reunification of Germany is an objective of Communist strategy. If the meeting did take place, the subject was probably the plan for a plebiscite.
